Dear Hornet Nation,

As Emporia State University continues to move forward, we know that actions speak louder than words, so beginning this week, and through the remainder of the academic year, you will hear from various departments about the strategic reinvestments being made in specific academic programs to provide students with the best educational experience at ESU.

Over the next several months, you will learn about investments that will create new and enhanced educational and high-impact experiences for current and future students. You will see additional opportunities for students to create valuable connections to their chosen careers. You will also see resources dedicated to improving facilities and classrooms.

Continue to look for communication from your deans, shared governance and other university leadership about how you can engage and be part of charting our path forward.
