

Quality Assurance Program

Tag: CAEP 3.5

At The Teachers College, we are so confident our graduates are fully prepared and equipped for success that we actually guarantee it.

As a first-year teacher, our Quality Assurance Program gives your hiring district a guarantee that you are prepared. Should any problems arise during your first year of teaching, Emporia State offers to provide, at no cost to the teacher or to the employing school district, additional training and supervision.

In the 34 years the guarantee has been in place, Emporia State has had six referrals. That means out of the thousands of new teachers trained by ESU, only a tiny percentage have needed intervention during their first year.

When you graduate from Emporia State, you'll be ready for the classroom.

We guarantee it!

"Today I had my first formal observation of the school year. My assistant principal came into my classroom for about 45 minutes and observed. I had a post observation meeting with her and she said something that really stuck out to me. She said, 'I am so impressed you're a first year teacher. You are leaps and bounds above teachers who have been teaching for many years.'"
