COURSE DESCRIPTION: This is a comprehensive business law course in which we will cover the major substantive areas of the law, with an emphasis on contracts, the Uniform Commercial Code, debtor-creditor relationships, and business organizations.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able generally to describe and explain:

1. The structure and role of the courts
2. The major sources and priorities of law
3. The Commerce Clause and Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution
4. Torts and remedies
5. The definition and protection of intellectual property
6. How a crime is prosecuted and basic Constitutional rights of the accused
7. The requirements of an enforceable contract
8. Rights and remedies for breach of contract
9. Contract formation and breach under the Uniform Commercial Code
10. Secured transactions
11. The law of agency
12. The legal structure and function of sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations
13. The principal federal securities laws
14. The principle laws governing the employment relationship
15. Real and personal property interests

RESOURCES: An introductory lecture posted in Course Content provides an overview of the course, sample Law Applied and Critical Thinking assignments with answers, and examples of suitable topics for the Legal Topic Essay assignment. Lectures, including associated PowerPoint slides, for each chapter, except those that will not be covered on the exams, have been recorded and are posted in Course Content (Blackboard). The slides alone are in the PowerPoint folder.
ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING:

As set forth in the assignment schedule below, an assignment is due every Wednesday of the semester beginning on August 22, excepting the Wednesday during the Thanksgiving holiday. All assignments must be posted to Blackboard by midnight on the due date. An assignment is late at 1 minute after the time and date of the deadline. Late assignments will not be accepted for credit. Therefore, do not wait until the last minute to submit your work. Technical problems with email, the Internet, your computer, or with anything else will not be a valid reason for late work. It is your responsibility to do your work on time to submit, to resubmit if necessary, and to make sure your equipment and systems are in operating condition.

1. LAW APPLIED (FIVE): Each of these assignments will include a summary of a recent court decision, statute, Executive Order, or other law or legal topic in the news. Your task is to ensure that you understand and can apply the legal principles we are covering in class to events in the real world by answering the questions presented about the law at issue. Your answers should be succinct and specific. You may review any and all news sources or other information available in print or online to understand and answer the questions presented, but use caution: many of these sources may contain inaccurate or incomplete information, or focus more on politics (or other subject) than the law. Each of these assignments is worth a maximum of twenty (20) points.

2. CRITICAL THINKING (FIVE): For many legal issues there is no “right” or “wrong” answer. Reasonable minds can differ. For example: there may be two precedents the facts of which are close, but not exactly similar to the case being decided. Depending on which precedent is followed, a different outcome will be reached. Thus, many court decisions include a “majority” and a “dissent.” By thinking critically, one can understand and appreciate both outcomes. This assignment requires such critical thinking. Each assignment describes an actual case in which the court split (i.e., included a majority and a dissent) and sets forth the applicable legal rules. You will write a reasonable and logical argument for why one party to the case should win, based on the application of the rules, AND a logical argument why the other party should win. Your arguments should be succinct and specific. Each of these assignments is worth a maximum of twenty (20) points.

3. EXAMS: There will be four interim exams, each worth 100 points (50 questions, 2 points per question), which will cover the immediately preceding topics, and a comprehensive final exam (200 points comprising 100 questions, 2 points per question). The exam format will include true/false and multiple-choice. Each exam will be available in the Assignments folder in Blackboard one week before its due date. Exam answers must be posted to Blackboard by midnight on the due date.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY:
At Emporia State University, academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, activities such as cheating and plagiarism (presenting the intellectual or creative work or accomplishments of another as your own, as well as failing to properly credit all sources used or referred to in your work). Consistent with University policy, the professor reserves the option of failing any student who commits an act of academic dishonesty on an exam, paper, or otherwise. The matter may also be referred to other academic personnel for further action. Emporia State University may impose penalties for academic dishonesty up to and including expulsion from the University.
