Graduate Programs

The Department of Elementary Education/Early Childhood/Special Education offers graduate work leading to an Instructional Specialist degree with concentrations in Reading Specialist PK-12/Elementary Content/Elementary STEM, a master's degree in Early Childhood Unified Education (Birth to Age 8 or Birth to K), and a master's degree in special education (high incidence or gifted, talented, and creative).

The Instructional Specialist degree is intended for the teaching practitioner in settings from early childhood through adolescence and young adulthood (EC-YA). The candidate will learn to deal more effectively with diverse candidate learners and move from theory to best practice in the field. The candidate may choose from areas of concentration that include Reading Specialist PK-12, Elementary Content, and Elementary STEM. Licensure is also available in Reading Specialist.

The graduate program in Early Childhood Unified is designed to prepare teachers to work effectively with young children in early childhood settings that are inclusive or non-inclusive, as well as teachers working with young children in early childhood special education settings; and to meet the challenges of the present and the future. Current federal mandates and trends in public schools recognize the growing importance of early childhood special education services for children from birth through age 8 and their families. Teachers with advanced training in their field will be in a favored position to usher in best practices for young children. There is an emphasis on early intervention and serving families with infants with special needs. The Master of Science degree in Early Childhood Education may result in the Kansas License ECU Birth through age 8 or the Kansas License ECU Birth to Kindergarten. The Master of Science degree in Early Childhood Unified may result in the Kansas License Endorsement ECU Birth through age 8 (B-8) or the Kansas License ECU Birth to Kindergarten (B-K). An admission requirement for the ECU B-8 program is that the candidate must hold a current license in elementary education. An admission requirement for the ECU B-K program include that the candidate hold a degree in a related field but does not hold a license in elementary education.

The graduate program in Special Education is dedicated to improving the lives of children and youth with special needs – children and youth with high incidence disabilities and/or children and youth who are gifted, talented, and creative. Both programs have a 24 credit hour endorsement program and a 36 credit hour master's degree. The curriculum of each program meets the endorsement standards for Early Childhood through Late Childhood (Grades K to 6) and Early Adolescence through Late Adolescence (Grades 6 to 12).
