Strategies on how to become more marketable at graduation

Management
- Prepare to start in entry-level management trainee positions. Demonstrate initiative and leadership to get promoted.
- Gain experience through internships or summer and part-time jobs.
- Work at a retail store or restaurant; advance into an assistant manager position.
- Get involved in student organizations and assume leadership roles.
- Demonstrate an entrepreneurial spirit, a strong work ethic, integrity, and a sense of independence.
- Take courses in a secondary specialty such as marketing or information systems to increase job opportunities.
- Learn to work well on a team and develop strong communication skills.

Sales
- Seek leadership positions in campus organizations.
- Work for the campus newspaper, directory, or radio station selling advertisements.
- Develop a strong commitment to customer satisfaction.
- To deliver effective customer service, develop problem solving skills, self-confidence, assertiveness, and empathy.
- Prepare to work independently and to be self-motivated. Plan to work irregular and/or long hours.
- Learn to communicate effectively with a wide range of people. Take additional courses in interpersonal communication and public speaking.
- Develop strong persuasion skills and learn how to build relationships.
- Some positions in sales, such as pharmaceuticals, require at least one to two years of a proven record in outside sales. Be prepared to start in a different industry before getting a job in pharmaceuticals.

Insurance
- Complete an internship with an insurance agency.
- Talk to professionals in the industry to learn more about claims, underwriting, and risk management. Many entry-level positions exist in these areas.
- Initiative and sales ability are necessary to be a successful agent or broker.
- Develop strong communication skills as many positions require interaction with others and the ability to explain information clearly and concisely.

Banking
- Develop a solid background in business including marketing and accounting.
- Get experience through part-time, summer, or internship positions in a bank.
- Develop strong interpersonal and communication skills in order to work well with a diverse clientele.

Human Resource Management
- Take courses in the social sciences such as psychology and sociology.
- Gain relevant experience through internships.
- Develop strong verbal and written communication skills.
- Learn to solve problems creatively, and gain experience with conflict resolution.
- Build a solid background in technology because many human resource systems are automated.
- Join the Society of Human Resource and other related professional associations.
- Be prepared for continuous learning once in the profession.
- Seek endorsements such as the Professional Human Resource Certification (PHR).
- Earn a master’s degree for career advancement or a law degree for employment law.
